INTRODUCTION

Did you know the State of Florida issued its first motor vehicle registration certificate on August 1, 1905?

This comprehensive book contains very useful information and pictures on the history of motor vehicle registration in Florida. To understand how our division began in the early 1900's our story unfolds with the registration of motor vehicles and their drivers. Just imagine, at the turn of the century motorized vehicles were a figment of the imagination. The most popular mode of transportation was by horseback or horse and buggy. Life was much simpler then and regulatory involvement was not necessary as it is today. Now, over one hundred years later, motor vehicles and autonomous vehicles are an integral part of our lives. As our dependency on motor vehicles grew, so did our need for public and fraud protection. The Division of Motor Vehicles developed ways to regulate the motor vehicle industry with its popular demand. This includes the operation and ownership of vehicles, along with the manufacturing and sales of motor vehicles.

We appreciate those who've reserved this history and provided their public service throughout the years. Registration of motor vehicles began with manual typewriters, then electric typewriters, and has progressed to the on-line computer age as technology has advanced. Motor vehicle registration records were once maintained in a paper file, then on microfilm and now an on-line electronic filing system.

We invite you to review the various sections of this book to reminisce about the decade in which you registered to drive a motor vehicle. Maybe you have a specialty license plate and you want to check the history of when the license plate became available. You may find it interesting to view the pictures of the old style of license plates. Our hope is that you will enjoy reading the history of motor vehicle registration and regulation by the State of Florida and find these resources useful.

Thank you!

Florida's First State Motor Vehicle License Plate Law Early 1900's

In 1905, the Florida Legislature passed Chapter 5437, Florida Statutes, which required all vehicles propelled by other than muscle power to be registered with the Secretary of State. On May 11, 1905, the 19th Governor Napoleon Bonaparte Broward (right) signed a new law requiring all resident owners to pay a $2.00 fee to register their motor vehicles with the Secretary of State and to provide make, description, serial number and horsepower of the automobiles. The Secretary of State in return issued a motor vehicle registration certificate the number of which was displayed prominently on the rear of the vehicle, and recorded a transaction on the book – Record of Registration of Automobiles and Other Motor Vehicles. The owner was thus required to provide his own license plate, a practice common to many states and localities prior to about 1910.

Florida's first license plate, which was made of leather, was issued in 1906. Although it was not required, some license plates displayed the "FLA" state designation. License plates of wood, leather (left), and metal are known, some being homemade while others were made by local sign smiths or purchased from a mail-order firm. These permanent numbers were required until September 30, 1915. In 1905 (August-December), Florida had 132 automobiles registered. In 1906, Florida had 174 automobiles registered. In 1907, Florida had 184 automobiles registered, and in 1908, Florida had 242 automobiles registered. In 1909, Florida had 563 automobiles registered, and from August 1, 1905 to December 31, 1909, the total registration was 1,295. In the early days, people purchased their license plates at the local hardware store. There was no uniform size to the early license plates because size was determined by the amount of numbers on the license plate.

The permanent number (#1) was not registered to the Governor in 1905, because Governor Napoleon B. Broward did not own a car. On August 1, 1905, R.E. Brand registered his automobile (Standard 3 ½ horsepower, and factory number #3307 from the manufacturer – The Locomobile Company of America). In 1906, Mr. Brand made the license plate out of leather and stamped #1 on it.

Early City License Plate Ordinances 1906 – December 31,1917

From 1905 through 1917, the State issued permanent license plate numbers. Over 10,000 registered owners in the State of Florida, local police agencies were quickly faced with the numerous of auto crashes, drunk driving, violations, and a new crime - auto theft.

From 1906 to December 31, 1917 - license plates were issued based on city ordinances. Florida cities exercised local option during the pioneer motoring era by imposing licensing requirements similar to the states. Jacksonville, Pensacola, Palatka, Ocala, Orlando, Miami, Tampa, and even a small town such as Brooksville are just a few municipalities known to have required motor vehicle registration and number displays.

In 1910, leather was replaced with metal and “FLA” appeared for the first time on the license plates.

In 1911, motor vehicle registration became a county responsibility. Residents were required to register their vehicle in the county where they lived and the fees were used to build roads and bridges in the county where they were collected. By the year 1911 a total of 4,211 motor vehicle registrations were issued.

County-Issued Annual License Plates October 1,1911 to December 31,1917

From October 1, 1911 to December 31, 1917 - each county issued annual license plates. While state motorists displayed the permanent numbers and in some cases permanent and/or annual city numbers, in 1911 the state mandated that they display annual county numbers as well. Imagine having to display state, county, and city license plates on one vehicle! The county license plates were issued by each tax collector for the fiscal year period October 1 through September 30. Fees were based upon horsepower rating and ranged from $3.00 (less than 10 HP) to $50.00 (over 70 HP). “For Hire” vehicles were charged a slightly higher fee than privately owned vehicles. County-issued license plates were not standardized statewide (each county being responsible for supplying it’s own license plates), which accounts for the bewildering array of size, shape, color, and format of these plates. Typically, porcelain license plates ordered from northern sign manufacturers were used.

In 1912, Florida changed to a porcelain or enamel license plate, which was manufactured in Baltimore, Maryland (right). The state also turned the licensing authority over to the individual counties so that a tighter reign could kept on people who just weren’t buying license plates. Problems arose, however, when some counties with larger cities, like Jacksonville and Tampa, decided to issue their own license plates, forcing many people to buy both a county and city license plate.

In 1915, it became unlawful for a person to operate an automobile while intoxicated and in 1917, speed of more than 25 miles per hour was considered reckless driving. The drivers of motor vehicles were required to stop on the signal from the driver of a horse drawn vehicle, or rider of a horse, and turn off the motor if the horse was frightened.

In 1917, the Florida Legislature passed the Motor Vehicle Act, which re-established motor vehicle licensing and registration as a state function. The use of the term “motor vehicle” was established in Florida Regulatory Law, and this term also included airplanes and mobile homes. The State Comptroller assumed the task of issuing the number of license plates (two) to a car.

State-Issued Annual License Plates January 1, 1918 to Present

In 1917, the Florida Legislature created the Sunshine State’s first uniform statewide annual license plate. Florida was the last of the old 48 states to issue uniform motor vehicle license plates.

In 1918, tin replaced the porcelain license plates and for the next four years, license plates were issued in pairs for both the front and back of the motor vehicle. Fees were based on vehicle type, horsepower, and capacity. During the Depression years, stealing license plates became common because people simply couldn’t afford them.

Weight Fees 1921-1925

In 1921, licensing fees based upon weight were established. Sales of motor vehicles were to be recorded with the Comptroller, which was the beginning of the present title certificate system by which ownership is recorded.

In 1922, single license plates were issued. Gross weight and capacity tabs were affixed to license plates 1922 through 1925 (right).

In 1923-1926, the state outline was embossed on license plates.

Act 34, Florida’s First Title Law 1923

In 1923, the state enacted its first title law (Act 39, Laws of Florida). Title certificates (left) were issued to each owner of a motor vehicle with a provision for carrying evidence of liens or other encumbrances against the vehicle. The primary purpose of the title certificate system was to prevent the theft of automobiles, and the proceeds from fees were put into what was known for many years as the auto theft fund.

License Inspectors 1925

In 1925, Florida's Comptroller employed eight license inspectors to investigate motor vehicles without proper license plates. The Comptroller was also allowed to appoint a tag agent in each county to sell license plates and collect a service fee of 50 cents per license plate.

Martin Building Construction and MV Commissioner 1927 – 1932

In 1927, the Florida Legislature took the license plate and title functions from the Comptroller and created the Office of the Motor Vehicle Commissioner who was appointed by the governor for a four-year term. The Governor named the inspectors and designated the license plate agents for the counties. The new state motor vehicle department was moved to the newly constructed, Martin Building on October 1, 1927 (Figure 1). The 24th Governor, John Martin, appointed W.F. Allen, mayor of Titusville, to be motor vehicle commissioner on October 1, 1927 until he resigned on January 26, 1929. Honorable Doyle Carlton, the 25th Governor, appointed D.B. Pinkston. He served as Commissioner from January 26, 1929 to June 30, 1929. He was succeeded by W.S. McLin, who was Acting Commissioner from July 1, 1929 to January 1, 1932.

Raiford Prison License Plate Plant 1927

Florida State Prison at Raiford, under the direction of Warden J.S. Blich, opened an auto license plate plant (Figure 2) in 1927 after the 1927 Legislature created the State Motor Vehicle Commission.

The number of commercial trucks and buses had increased so much by 1929 that the Legislature transferred their regulation to the Florida Railroad Commission (now the Public Service Commission).

Large License Plate Reduction 1930-1933

Large license plates were reduced in size to 5" x 12".

Commissioner Changes 1932-1935

W.S. McLin was commissioned on January 1, 1932 to February 1, 1933 by Governor Carlton. The 26th Governor David Sholtz appointed George F. Wilder to be acting commissioner on February 2, 1933 to October 15, 1935.

Theft-Proof or Locking Plates 1934-1935

In 1934 and 1935, Florida responded with a special theft-proof license plate that had an extra strap for more security.

Grapefruit License Plate 1935

The Chamber of Commerce got into the act in 1935 and decided to sell the State of Florida license plates. They came up with a license plate, picturing a grapefruit in the corner. This license plate lasted only one year because the picture of the grapefruit looked more like a bomb. This became known as the "bomb tag" (left).

Commissioner Changes 1935-1941

B. F. Mizelle of Tallahassee was commissioned by Governor Sholtz on October 15, 1935 until his resignation on January 4, 1937. The 27th Governor, Fred Cone, commissioned Thomas W. Long of Tavares on January 18, 1937 until he resigned in September 1937. He was succeeded by interim D.W. Finley of Tallahassee on September 22, 1937. Mr. Finley was commissioned on Sept. 30, 1939 until his resignation on January 27, 1941.

County Prefix 1938 - 1975

In 1938, counties were assigned numbers based on each counties population based on the 1935 census. Even though these county designations are no longer used on license plates, these same codes assigned to counties between 1938-1977 are still used today in the Florida Real-Time Vehicle Information System (FRVIS) for reporting and operational purposes. This was beginning of identifying license plates by county.

State Department of Public Safety 1940

In 1940, the Florida Legislature's Act 556 created the State Department of Public Safety consisting of the Division of the Florida Highway Patrol and Division of State Motor Vehicle Driver Licenses. Driver Licenses were required.

Driver Licenses 1941

In 1941, the Legislature enacted a title lien law and placed its enforcement with the Motor Vehicle Commissioner. This law required that the certificate of title issued to each motor vehicle registered in Florida must represent a complete abstract of the title including the current mortgage status. Aircraft, also defined as motor vehicles, were required to be registered and were assessed a license tax like automobiles.

Metal Tab 1943

In 1943, during World War II, there were steel shortages and the state mandated issuance of a metal tab that attached to a 1942 license plate in lieu of a full-size license plate. The 1943 tab was affixed over the date of the 1942 license plate (right). These were issued for only one year.

Commissioner Changes 1945-1949

The 29th Governor, Millard Caldwell, commissioned George H. Asbell of Blountstown on January 2, 1945. He resigned on August 4, 1947 and John Kilgore of Tallahassee was appointed until January 1949.

An “Amateur Radio” license plate was established for any Florida resident that is the holder of a valid official amateur radio station license issued by the Federal Communications Commission bearing the call letters of that station.

In 1951, a "Disabled Veteran" license plate was established for any Florida resident, who is a veteran with 100% service connected disability.

In 1951, a "Keep Florida Green" logo appeared on the license plates, (right) but never to be seen again because tourists felt that it implied a negative feeling that Florida wanted all their money.

E.V. Fisher of DeLand was commissioned by 31st Governor Dan McCarty on January 6, 1953. Governor McCarty died in September 1953 and Mr. Fisher continued as Commissioner during the term of Acting Governor Charley Johns.

Commissioner Changes 1955-1961

Mrs. Ina S. Thompson of DeFuniak Springs was commissioned by 33rd Governor LeRoy Collins on January 4, 1955 to January 4, 1961. She was the first woman to administer the Motor Vehicle Commission and the first to be a member of the group of gubernatorial appointees known as the "little cabinet." In fact, the small building, which is located behind Neil Kirkman Building, is named after her. A daycare center for the state employees' kids is currently housed in the building.

Motor Vehicles Redefined 1963

In 1963, the Constitution was amended to define “motor vehicles” to include mobile homes, trailer coaches, house trailers, and camper type mobile homes. This amendment exempted those vehicles affixed permanently to land and made it necessary for motor vehicle inspectors (55 persons for the entire state) to check all mobile home parks as well as isolated mobile homes parked on private or individual lots, for violations. Inspectors were cautious not to issue citations to tourists or to active duty military personnel. Tax warrants were issued to those owners who refused to register their mobile homes. Fees were shared by the Board of County Commissioners and the County School Board in the county where collected.

Motor Vehicle Commission becomes Department of Motor Vehicles 1965

The Motor Vehicle Commission became the Department of Motor Vehicles on July 1, 1965 by the act of the 1965 Legislature. The Department’s Director was hired and supervised by an Executive Board (“Cabinet”) composed of the Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney General, Comptroller, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Commissioner of Agriculture. Arch Livingston was appointed by the Executive Board on July 1, 1965 until he retired in June 1971. The Director was charged with administering and enforcing the laws of the state relative to motor vehicles. He employed clerical assistants and appointed enforcement deputies. The license inspectors had full police powers to enforce laws regarding traffic on the public highways of the state. This was in addition to enforcing the registration of motor vehicles. Each license inspector received a salary of one hundred fifty dollars per month. Upon the recommendation of the Director, the Governor could elect to appoint or eliminate inspectors.

Governmental Reorganization Act 1969

The passage of the Governmental Reorganization Act of 1969, combined the duties and responsibilities of the Department of Public Safety and the Department of Motor Vehicles to form the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles.
